

EL Team

Team Coordinators:

Dragan Stanojevic, Technical Education and ICT teacher

Ivana Polic, English teacher

Other members:

Sanja Mirosevic, Art teacher

Fani Aljinovic, Croatian teacher

Vlatka Cagalj, English teacher

Vanda Loncar, Maths teacher

Stela Samanic, Science teacher

Erna Saric, History teacher

Maria Zizic-Plestina, Geography teacher

ABOUT US

Our school is located in Saint Kajo (Solin) in the close vicinity of ancient Roman ruins, some of our country's oldest archaeological gems. The school was founded in 1970 and currently there are 597 pupils. We joined the SEECEL'S Entrepreneurial Learning Project on 18th November 2014. Nine subject teachers and the pupils from 5th-8th grade participated in the project.

MISSION

Our mission is to inspire young learners to aspire higher, always trying to think outside the box. In order to do that, we will promote positive attitude towards EL, implement it into the school curriculum, highlight the importance of constant learning, personal improvement and development in terms of EL. Moreover, we will attempt to develop the notion of entrepreneurship as the way of thinking.

VISION - THE PAST MEETS THE FUTURE IN THE PRESENT

Located in the ruins of ancient Salona and named after a prominent Croatian painter Vjekoslav Parac, we see ourselves as a traditional but future-oriented school which translates its rich historical and cultural background into a modern school, as a link between the past and the future, seen through the eyes of young entrepreneurship learners.

OUR PROJECT

Play to learn, learn to make your own way to success

During the school year, in Art and Technical Education classes, the pupils were making an ancient board game called Rota, brought to our territory by Roman soldiers about 2000 years ago. They used different materials in order to make both archaic and modern version of this ancient board game. In Art class, they used wood and clay for the archaic Rota whereas in Technical Education class, they made a modern electric Rota.

The creation and promotion of the aforementioned pupils' products were planned in cooperation with Zvonimir Cultural Institution and Solin Tourist Bord. The idea was to promote wooden and clay Rota as an authentic souvenir inspired by our historical and cultural background. Its electric version was also promoted as an innovative modern souvenir/board game which makes the best of both worlds, the Past and the Future in the Present. Since it is more appealing to younger generations, this product can be sold not only as a souvenir but a present, too.

In History class, the pupils learnt about historical aspects of entrepreneurship in ancient times. In Geography class, they were taught about some entrepreneurial aspects of tourism in the local community and different ways of tourist promotion. In Croatian class, they made some promotional materials (i.e. leaflets) related to Rota. Finally, in English class, the pupils translated them in English.